

Mgr. Radoslava Berdisová – works as an internal doctoral student of the Department of Laboratory Medicine, where she completed her master's degree in 2022. In her research-scientific activity, she focuses primarily on interventional radiology, radiation protection and occurrence of tissue reactions. In her dissertation thesis, she focuses on the monitoring of tissue reactions in interventional radiology and cardiology patients. She participates in the teaching of nuclear medicine, radiation hygiene and radiation protection.

Born: 1997