

Mgr. Ľubomír Švantner – works as an internal PhD student at the Department of Laboratory Investigation Methods in Health Care at the Faculty of Health Sciences of the University of Trnava. He is involved in teaching practical classes in Microbiology – Mycology. As part of his PhD studies, he focuses on dual-species biofilms formed by the pathogenic bacterium Staphylococcus aureus and yeasts of the genus Candida.

Born: 2001